Introduction

This report outlines the results of the 2021 Greater Kansas City Nonprofit Organizations and Associations Benefits Survey. It provides an overview of current practices and trends for the provision of welfare & insurance benefits and paid time off practices for a variety of nonprofit organizations.

For this project, the Greater Kansas City area includes 19 counties in Kansas and Missouri. Nonprofit organizations and associations in the Greater Kansas City area provided information about benefits including: welfare & insurance and paid-time-off practices for full-time and part-time employees.

Historical Context & Methodology

In 2004, MCNL took over a survey collecting salary information from the Center for Management Assistance. Periodically over the last 17 years, focus groups consisting of nonprofit executive directors, human resources directors, board members, and funders have been conducted to inform the development and revision of the survey. Survey questions are updated based on the feedback from the focus groups, collaborating partners, and other salary and benefits surveys from across the country.

In recent years, MCNL has divided the survey and resulting report. This report will cover benefits; salary will be addressed in a survey and report next year.

The survey was created using online survey software. The survey link was posted on MCNL's website and provided to our partner organizations to share with their constituents throughout the Greater Kansas City area. MCNL provides the survey for approximately two months with regular communication with our contacts to collect as much data as possible.

As a part of the data collection and organization, responses are entered into a database. Some survey responses were not included due to duplication, missing information, or because the organization was located outside of the project area. Governmental agencies are also excluded from this data. For any clarification of responses, contact with the participating organization is made. The data is then analyzed using statistical software to describe and visualize.

As you read the report, please note that not all tables and charts will add up to 100% due to rounding. If there are empty cells in a table, there were not enough responses in that category for analysis with anonymity. Finally, take care when comparing data across years. Since different organizations and associations participate in each survey, definitive comparisons cannot be made. Additionally, for an assurance of privacy, if singular responses are given for any category, the data is not detailed in the tables. A threshold must be met to report a statistical average and other figures.

Using This Report

Use Relevant Information

Use the information that is most relevant to the type of size of your organization. For this report, organizations have been assigned to an organization size category based on their reported annual budget.

Resources not Requirement

This report is meant to be a resource to guide your decision-making, rather than a mandate or requirement. While we consider the information in this report to be a reasonably accurate reflection of the benefits practices of Kansas City nonprofit organizations, it has limitations. The responding organizations were not randomly selected, so we cannot make definitive statements about the benefits practices of the entire Kansas City nonprofit sector. What this report does provide is a general description of the benefits practices of nonprofit organizations in Kansas City as of August 2021 and changes anticipated in the coming year. Remember, the fact that a given benefits practice is common does not mean it is the ideal. Your benefits practices should be comparable to other nonprofit organizations of a similar type and size, but most importantly, it should reflect the core principles and values of your organization.

Definitions & Resources

A list of definitions for key terms used in this report is available in Appendix A. Human resources management resources can be found in Appendix B.

Participation

A total of 210 survey responses were included in the 2021 benefits survey. Of the total, 181 organizations were classified 501(c)(3), 2 were classified as 501(c)(4), 15 were classified as 501(c)(6), and 8 were reported as Other. Nonprofit organizations and associations may use different benefit practices, so the survey responses from 501(c)(6) organizations were also analyzed separately. Discussion of the 501(c)(6) results are in Appendix C.

Organization Size

23% of responding organizations reported an annual budget between $1 million and $2.49 million. Just under 74% of responding organizations reported an annual budget between $250,000 and $9.9 million.

For this report, organizations have been assigned to an organization size category based on their reported annual budget.

Organization Size:	Annual Budget:
Small	Under $250,000
Medium	$250,000 to $999,999
Large	$1 million to $4.9 million
Very Large	Over $5 million

Geographic Scope

Another factor to consider is the geographic scope, or service area, of an organization. Of responding organizations, 42% reported the metropolitan area as their service area.

Over half of responding organizations operate at the county/local level or the metropolitan level.

Regional Breakdown:

Type of Organization

Organization type refers to the mission or purpose of the organization. Out of all responding organizations 20% identified as human services or multipurpose, organizations serving multiple needs. Membership and Trade Association was the next highest reported organization type with 8% of responding organizations.

Benefits Highlights & Trends

Welfare and Insurance Benefits

Number of Positions

Of responding organizations, nearly 95% reported having paid employees. On average, responding organizations reported having 1 to 5 full-time employees and 1 to 5 part-time employees.

Full-Time Positions

Part-Time Positions

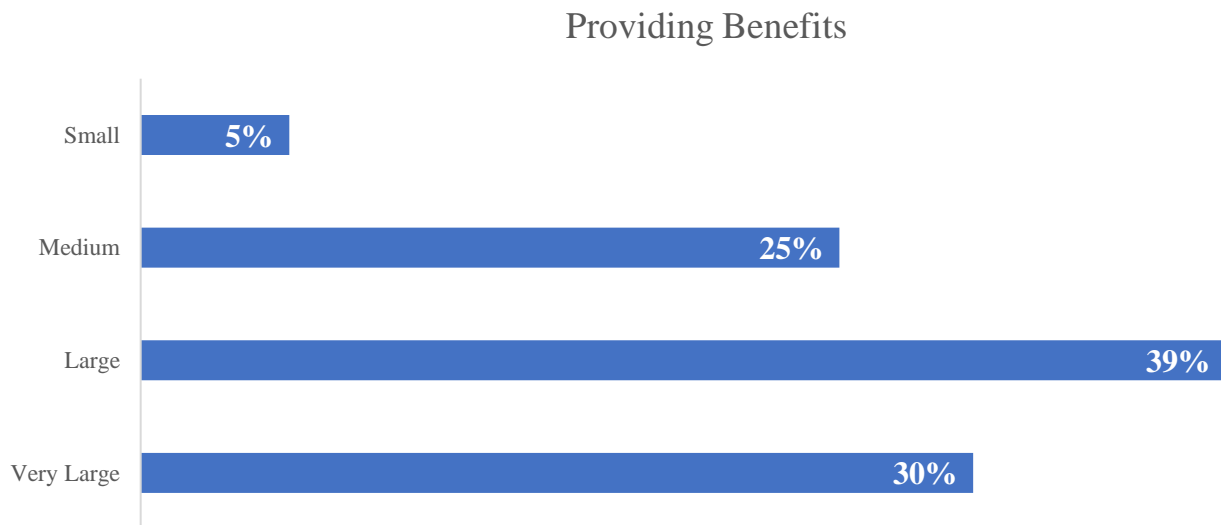

Gender of Employees

Welfare and Insurance Provision for Employees

Nearly three-quarters of responding organizations reported providing welfare and insurance benefits to their employees. A little more than 11% of responding organizations reported that they do not provide such benefits. Of those organizations reporting that they do not provide such benefits, more than a third are from small organizations.

Total organizations-Breakdown of those providing benefits:

Employee Eligibility

Nearly 98% of responding organizations provide welfare and some type of insurance benefits, but the majority report only offering this to their full-time employees.

For nonprofit employers that report providing insurance and welfare benefits for their employees (n=187), 72 organizations reported not having a minimum length of service required before an employee becomes eligible to receive such benefits, while 78 organizations reported a minimum length of time of service required, and 37 organizations did not answer the question. More than half of nonprofit employers that reported the provision of insurance and welfare benefits do not extend such benefits to unmarried partners of their employees.

For organizations with a minimum waiting period, more than half reported a waiting period of 30 days or less.

Trends in Benefits

The array of benefits provided to employees by Kansas City organizations has changed relatively little since our last survey in 2016-2017. The provision of specific employee welfare and insurance benefits, listed by organization size category, is summarized in the table below.

Benefits Provided to Full-Time Employees	Percentages of Organizations That Report Offering This Benefit in 2021

Share of Support for the Full-Time Employee

Among large organizations, the percentage that reported paying 100 percent of the cost for basic life and dental insurance for their full-time employees significantly improved only for the basic life insurance when compared to 2019 levels. Other types of insurance coverage for full-time employees remained relatively unchanged.

Among all organizations, only 37% reported that they paid 100 percent of the cost for their full-time employee's medical insurance. Large organizations reported the highest percentage, followed by medium and then very large organizations

Overall, nonprofit employers reported paying approximately 90% of health insurance costs for their full-time employees. Very large organizations have historically reported paying the majority of insurance expenses for their full time employees, but there was an increase in the number of large and medium sized organizations who indicated covering more of their full time employees health insurance costs.

Retirement Benefits for the Full-time Employee

Limited retirement benefits are offered by the typical Kansas City nonprofit. The most common of any retirement benefit is the option for employees to participate in a defined contribution plan; 67% of responding organizations offer this option. The median percentage paid by nonprofit employers is 10%. The next most common is a Thrift (403b) plan; 15% of responding organizations offer this option and the median percentage paid for this benefit by nonprofit employers is 0% (employee pays all). The share of the cost that is paid by nonprofit employers varies widely across the sector; although, as would be expected, the larger agencies tend to be more likely to pay a greater share of such costs than the small or medium agencies.

Paid Time Off Benefits

Paid Time Off Benefit Trends

An important component of many organizations' benefits packages is paid time off. It appears that organizations have generally not changed their practices in any significant way regarding paid time off. Paid time off (PTO) benefits include sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, holidays, and other miscellaneous time off (such as court service, bereavement leave, education, etc.).

88% of participating organizations report providing paid time off benefits to their employees.

Among responding organizations that allocate separate time off for holidays:

How many paid holidays are provided to employees per year?	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
Small Organizations (Budgets Under $250,000)
Medium Organizations (Budgets Between $250,000-$999,999)	10	10	10	10	6.5	0
Large Organizations (Budgets Between $1 Million and $4.99 Million)	10.8	10	10	10.6	6.5	0
Very Large Organizations (Budgets Over $5 Million)	10	10	10	9.95	6.5	0

*Shaded cells indicate inadequate data (e.g., too few cases) to calculate the cell. * Indicates no single mode for the specific practice.*

Vacation Leave

Among responding organizations, it is most common to provide 10 vacation days per year for the full-time employee with at least one year of experience; those with 10 or more years of experience most commonly receive 20 days per year. Compared to previous years, the average number of vacation days provided to full-time employees at all experience levels remained relatively unchanged.

Employee's Years of Service	Full-Time Employees: Number of Days		Part-Time Employees: Number of Days
	Average	Median	Average	Median
Less than 1 year	11.5 (n=134)	10	4 (n=116)	0
1 year	13.8 (n=135)	12	5 (n=119)	0
2 years	14.3 (n=132)	14	5 (n=115)	0
3 years	15.3 (n=133)	15	5 (n=116)	0
5 years	18.5 (n=133)	18	6 (n=116)	0
10 years	22 (n=127)	20	7 (n=112)	0
15 years	23.2 (n=125)	20	7.4 (n=112)	0

Leave Carry-Forward

A limited number of organizations allow employees to carry accrued unused leave days forward to the following year. Many differentiate between types of leave to include: general combined leave, sick leave, and vacation leave days. Among responding organizations, 56% (n=118) allow full-time employees to carry forward unused leave days to the following year. The average maximum number of days that can be carried forward for full-time employees was 36 days. A little less than a quarter of responding organizations (n=50) allow parttime employees to carry forward unused leave days.

Fewer responding organizations report that they allow their employees to carry forward unused sick days to the following year. Less than a third (n=63) allow full-time employees to carry forward unused sick days. Among those organizations that allow for such practice, the average number of days full-time employees are allowed to carry forward was 17 days. Only 13% (n=27) allow part-time employees to carry forward their unused sick days.

For those responding organizations that allocate paid time off for vacation, 56% (n=118) report that they allow full-time employees to carry forward unused vacation days to the following year. A much smaller percentage of organizations, 24% (n=50), report that they allow part-time employees to carry forward unused vacation days.

Cash-Out at Termination Some organizations allow employees to “cash out” unused vacation and/or sick days upon termination. Based on the results of this survey, organizations appear to allow employees to cash out vacation days at termination more frequently than they allow the cash out of sick days.

Among responding organizations, only 80% (n=121) allow full-time employees to cash out remaining vacation leave at termination. A smaller portion, 39% (n=58), allow part-time employees to cash out unused vacation days at termination. Among the organizations that allow for this practice, more than two-thirds 51% (n=57) place a limit on the number of days that may be cashed out.

Among responding organizations, 26% (n=41) allow full-time employees to cash out their unused sick days at termination. Only 14% (n=21) allow part-time employees to do the same.

Other Forms of Paid Leave

Organizations often provide paid time off for specific purposes outside of vacation, illness, and holidays. Among responding organizations, the most common purpose for additional time off for full-time employees was for bereavement, followed by court service and job-related education/training.

Challenges

Kansas City nonprofit organizations express that finding the right balance of wellness offerings, paid time off, insurance, and other benefits continues to be a challenge. Organizations were likely presented with unique challenges in 2020 resulting in an assessment of their organizations' operations overall, and salary and benefits were likely a part of that assessment. Leaders in nonprofit management urge organizations to examine human resource policy and organizational change management particularly in response to the changes COVID-19 had on workplace demands, employment, and perspective of employees (Kuenzi et al., 2021).

Opportunities

48% of responding organizations report that the cost of providing benefits has increased in the last two years.

When asked whether their organizations have made any changes to their benefits in the last two years, responses included:

- Switching to new insurance plans with higher deductibles.
- Increasing the mandatory waiting period before becoming eligible for insurance.
- Decreasing the employer share of the cost for dependent coverage.

Alternatively, organizations also reported finding creative ways to make their benefits packages more appealing to employees. Examples of this included:

- Closing the office over holiday breaks so employees do not have to use vacation time.
- Increasing the number of paid vacation and sick days.
- Increasing the number of floating holidays.

Anticipated Benefit Plan Changes

When asked whether they anticipated eliminating or changing any benefits in the next year, 39% of responding organizations reported that they anticipate making changes to their benefit plans. Based on responses, many of the anticipated changes involved finding ways to reduce the overall costs associated with providing welfare and insurance benefits to employees, while still meeting the needs of their employees.

Benefits Practices

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For All Reporting Organizations

Paid time off (PTO) benefits include sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, holidays, and other miscellaneous time off (such as court service, bereavement leave, education, etc.). The percentages reported in this section are for all reporting organizations (there are 210 organizations that responded to the survey, but not all reported for all benefit types).

Among surveyed organizations:

- 49% (n=103) report that they provide PTO benefits to full-time employees only.
- 39% (n=81) report that they provide PTO benefits to all employees.
- 12% (n=26) do not report provision of PTO benefits.

Policies for Paid Time Off

The primary methods reported for providing paid time off for sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, and holidays are as follows:

- 3% of organizations (n=7) report having no policy for PTO.
- 46% of organizations (n=97) report that employees earn combination of sick, vacation, or personal days (i.e. PTO) and additional paid holidays.
- 38% of organizations (n=80) report that employees can earn separate days for each of these benefits: holidays, sick days, vacation days, and personal days.

Among the organizations that report combined leave accrual policies:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Days Earned Per Year	27	20	20	10.17	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days Earned Per Year	8.7	6	0	3.1	0	0

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For All Reporting Organizations

Leave Carry-Forward Policies:

A limited number of organizations report that they allow employees to carry accrued leave days that are not used in one year into the next year. Many differentiate sick leave from other forms of leave, as the following details indicate:

- 70% of organizations (n=148) report that they allow full-time employees to carry forward unused vacation and other (non-sick) leave days.
- 59% (n=124) allow such carry-forward for part-time employees.
- 62% (n=130) report that they allow carry-forward of sick days for full-time employees;
- 54% (n=113) allow carry-forward of sick days for part-time employees.

Among Those Organizations that Allow Carry-Forward:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Leave Days that can be Carried Forward	29	10	0	14.3	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days that can be Carried Forward	26.8	0	0	10.7	0	0

Some organizations allow employees to “cash out” unused sick leave at the time of termination:

- Only 20% of responding organizations in this survey (n=41) allow full-time employees to cash out their unused sick days at termination.
- Only 10% of responding organizations (n=21) allow part-time employees to cash out their unused sick days at termination.

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: Very Large Organizations (Greater than $5 million)

Paid time off benefits include sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, holidays and other miscellaneous time off (such as court service, bereavement leave, education, etc.). The percentages reported in this section are for all reporting organizations in this size category (there are 60 organizations in this group but not all reported for all benefit types).

Among surveyed organizations (those that provide benefits to any employees):

58% (n=35) report that they provide such benefits to full-time employees only.

17% (n=10) report that they provide such benefits to all employees.

Policies for Paid Time Off

The primary methods reported for providing paid time off for sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, and holidays are as follows: 55% (n=30) of organizations report that employees earn paid holidays plus days that may be used for a combination of vacation, sick leave, and personal leave.

45% (n=25) of organizations report that employees earn sick leave, vacation leave, and personal leave separately.

Among the organizations that report combined leave accrual policies:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Days Earned Per Year	33.72	20	20	13.05	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days Earned Per Year	10.16	6	0	1.43	0	0

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: Very Large Organizations (Greater than $5 million)

Leave Carry-Forward Policies:

A limited number of organizations report that they allow employees to carry accrued leave days that are not used in one year into the next year. Many differentiate sick leave from other forms of leave, as the following details indicate:

- 58% of organizations (n=35) report that they allow full-time employees to carry forward unused vacation and other (non-sick leave) leave days; 22% (n=13) allow such carry forward for their part-time employees.
- 30% of organizations (n=18) report that they allow carry forward of sick leave for full-time employees; 10% (n=6) allow carry forward of sick leave for part-time employees.

Among Those Organizations that Allow Carry-Forward:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Leave Days that can be Carried Forward	37.25	10	0	16.02	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days that can be Carried Forward	42.22	0	0	10.02	0	0

Some organizations allow employees to “cash out” unused sick leave at the time of termination:

- 17% of organizations (8) in this survey group allow full-time employees to cash out sick leave at termination.
- Only 9% of responding organizations (4) in this survey group allow part-time employees to cash out sick leave at termination.

15 years	27.89 (n=40)	20	20	7.37 (n=32)	0	0

The survey asked organizations to report their specific policies and practices regarding vacation carry-forward and vacation cash out upon termination of employment.

Among the organizations that provide for the accrual of vacation leave:

- 68% of reporting organizations (n=41) allow full-time employees to carry vacation leave credit into the new year;
- 25% of reporting organizations (n=15) allow part-time employees to carry vacation leave credit into the next year.

For the organizations that allow full-time employees to carry vacation forward:

- The average maximum number of days that may be carried forward is 37 days;
- The most typical maximum number of days (the mode) is 0 days; and
- The median maximum number of days allowed to be carried forward is 10.

Some organizations allow employees to “cash out” unused vacation leave at the time of termination:

- 83% of organizations in this survey group (n=36) allow full-time employees to cash out vacation leave at termination.
- 37% of organizations in this survey group (n=16) allow part-time employees to cash out vacation leave at termination.
- Among the organizations that allow vacation cash-out at termination, 50% (n=17) place a limit on the number of days that may be cashed out.

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For Large Organizations ($1 to $5 million)

Paid time off benefits include sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, holidays and other miscellaneous time off (such as court service, bereavement leave, education, etc.). The percentages reported in this section are for all reporting organizations in this size category (there are 80 organizations in this group but not all reported for all benefit types).

Among surveyed organizations (those that provide benefits to any employees):

- 52% (n=38) report that they provide such benefits to full-time employees only.
- 48% (n=35) report that they provide such benefits to all employees.

Policies for Paid Time Off

The primary methods reported for providing paid time off for sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, and holidays are as follows:

- 53% (n=39) of organizations report that employees earn paid holidays plus days that may be used for a combination of vacation, sick leave, and personal leave.
- 47% (n=34) of organizations report that employees earn sick leave, vacation leave, and personal leave separately.

Among the organizations that report combined leave accrual policies:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Days Earned Per Year	27.53	20	20	10.66	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days Earned Per Year	7.82	6	0	4.14	0	0

Benefits Practices

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For Large Organizations ($1 to $5 million)

Leave Carry-Forward Policies:

A limited number of organizations report that they allow employees to carry accrued leave days that are not used in one year into the next year. Many differentiate sick leave from other forms of leave, as the following details indicate:

- 59% of organizations (n=47) report that they allow full-time employees to carry forward unused vacation and other (non-sick leave) leave days; 25% (n=20) allow such carry forward for their part-time employees.
- 36% of organizations (n=29) report that they allow carry forward of sick leave for full-time employees; 18% (n=14) allow carry forward of sick leave for part-time employees.

Among Those Organizations that Allow Carry-Forward:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Leave Days that can be Carried Forward	26.39	10	0	13.84	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days that can be Carried Forward	15.85	0	0	7.55	0	0

Some organizations allow employees to “cash out” unused sick leave at the time of termination:

- 30% of organizations (n=20) in this survey group allow full-time employees to cash out sick leave at termination.
- 17% of organizations (n=11) in this survey group allow part-time employees to cash out sick leave at termination.

The survey asked organizations to report their specific policies and practices with regard to vacation carry-forward and vacation cashout upon termination of employment.

Among the organizations that provide for the accrual of vacation leave:

- 53% of reporting organizations (n=42) allow full-time employees to carry vacation leave credit into the new year;
- 24% of reporting organizations (n=19) allow part-time employees to carry vacation leave credit into the next year.

For the organizations that allow full-time employees to carry vacation forward:

- The average maximum number of days that may be carried forward is 21 days;
- The most typical maximum number of days (the mode) is 0 day; and
- The median maximum number of days allowed to be carried forward is 9.

Some organizations allow employees to “cash out” unused vacation leave at the time of termination:

- 82% of reporting organizations in this survey group (n=53) allow full-time employees to cash out vacation leave at termination.
- 42% of reporting organizations in this survey group (n=26) allow part-time employees to cash out vacation leave at termination.
- Among the organizations that allow vacation cash-out at termination, 48% (n=23) place a limit on the number of days that may be cashed out.

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For Small Organizations (Under $250,000)

Paid time off benefits include sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, holidays and other miscellaneous time off (such as court service, bereavement leave, education, etc.). The percentages reported in this section are for all reporting organizations in this size category (there are 19 organizations in this group but not all reported for all benefit types).

Among surveyed organizations (those that provide benefits to any employees):

- 60% (n=6) report that they provide such benefits to full-time employees only.
- 40% (n=4) report that they provide such benefits to all employees.

Policies for Paid Time Off

The primary methods reported for providing paid time off for sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, and holidays are as follows:

- 60% (n=6) of organizations report that employees earn paid holidays plus days that may be used for a combination of vacation, sick leave, and personal leave
- 30% (n=3) of organizations report that employees earn sick leave, vacation leave, and personal leave separately.

Among the organizations that report combined leave accrual policies:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Days Earned Per Year	19.5	20	20	3.85	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days Earned Per Year	6.85	6	0	1.66	0	0

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For Small Organizations (Under $250,000)

Leave Carry-Forward Policies:

A limited number of organizations report that they allow employees to carry accrued leave days that are not used in one year into the next year. Many differentiate sick leave from other forms of leave, as the following details indicate:

- 26% of organizations (n=5) report that they allow full-time employees to carry forward unused vacation and other (non-sick leave) leave days; 11% (n=2) allow such carry forward for their part-time employees.
- 16% of organizations (n=3) report that they allow carry forward of sick leave for full-time employees; 5% of organizations (n=1) allow carry forward of sick leave for part-time employees.

Among Those Organizations that Allow Carry-Forward:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Leave Days that can be Carried Forward	9.12	10	0	1.42	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days that can be Carried Forward	6.57	0	0	0.83	0	0

Shaded cells indicate inadequate data (e.g., too few cases) to calculate the cell.

Some organizations allow employees to “cash out” unused sick leave at the time of termination:

- 21% of organizations (n=4) in this survey group allow full-time employees to cash out sick leave at termination.
- None of organizations in this survey group allow part-time employees to cash out sick leave at termination.

The survey asked organizations to report their specific policies and practices with regard to vacation carry-forward and vacation cashout upon termination of employment.

Among the organizations that provide for the accrual of vacation leave:

- 21% of reporting organizations (n=4) allow full-time employees to carry vacation leave credit into the new year; □ 11% of reporting organizations (n=2) allow part-time employees to carry vacation leave credit into the next year.

For the organizations that allow full-time employees to carry vacation forward:

- The average maximum number of days that may be carried forward is 7 days;
- The most typical maximum number of days (the mode) is 0 day; and
- The median maximum number of days allowed to be carried forward is 9.

Some organizations allow employees to “cash out” unused vacation leave at the time of termination:

- 63% of organizations in this survey group (n=5) allow full-time employees to cash out vacation leave at termination. None of organizations in this survey group allow part-time employees to cash out vacation leave at termination.
- Among the organizations that allow vacation cash-out at termination, 80% (n=4) place a limit on the number of days that may be cashed out.

Definitions

Bereavement Leave – time off (may be paid or unpaid) that is granted to a grieving employee at the time of death of someone with whom they have a close relationship (usually an employee’s immediate family member). Time off may vary with the nature of the relationship.

Defined Benefit Plan – a retirement plan that will provide the employee with a specific and regular cash payment (usually monthly) as replacement for salary, beginning at the time of retirement.

Employee Benefits – the range of non-salary/non-wage payments and services that are provided to an employee as a complement to regular financial pay, often including pay for time not worked during vacation or illness, various insurance and other protection plans, and other services of value (e.g., allowance for transportation, employer paid education or training).

Flexible Benefits – a benefits plan that allows the employee some level of choice regarding the kind and amount of benefits they receive with their position (often including options for using “pre-tax” compensation to pay the employee’s share of the cost for certain pre-approved benefits and expenses).

Full Time – the amount of time over a certain number of days that an organization considers the standard for a regular employee to be at work (most common is 40 hours per week, but some organizations define this in other ways such as 80 hours per two weeks, 38 hours per week, etc.).

Mean – the average value or amount for the entire group, based on the amounts that all organizations in a given category report (calculated as the sum of all amounts reported, divided by the number of organizations reporting an amount).

Median – the midpoint or 50th percentile for the range of all amounts that were reported; half of all organizations reported amounts higher and half of all organizations reported amounts lower for the category.

Mode – the amount reported most often.

Paid Time-off Benefits – compensation for time not worked (vacation, sick day, holiday, personal time off, bereavement, etc.).

Part Time – the amount of time over a certain number of days that an organization considers to be less than full time employment (most common is an employee working fewer than 35 hours/week).

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For 501(c)(6) Associations

Paid time off benefits include sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, holidays and other miscellaneous time off (such as court service, bereavement leave, education, etc.). The percentages reported in this section are for all reporting associations in this size category (there are 15 associations in this group but not all reported for all benefit types). For reporting associations, 93% (n=14) report that they provide paid time off benefits.

Among surveyed associations (those that provide benefits to any employees):

64% (n=9) report that they provide such benefits to full-time employees only. 35% (n=5) report that they provide such benefits to all employees.

Policies for Paid Time Off

The primary methods reported for providing paid time off for sick leave, vacation leave, personal leave, and holidays are as follows: 35% (n=5) of associations report that employees earn paid holidays plus days that may be used for a combination of vacation, sick leave, and personal leave.

57% (n=8) of associations report that employees earn sick leave, vacation leave, and personal leave separately.

Among all responding associations:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Days Earned Per Year	21	20	20	4	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days Earned Per Year	10	6	0	2	0	0

Leave Carry-Forward Policies:

A limited number of associations report that they allow employees to carry accrued leave days that are not used in one year into the next year. Many differentiate sick leave from other forms of leave, as the following details indicate:

- 66% of associations (n=10) report that they allow full-time employees to carry forward unused vacation and other (non-sick leave) leave days; 20% (n=3) allow such carry forward for their part-time employees.
- 40% of associations (n=6) report that they allow carry forward of sick leave for full-time employees; 20% (n=3) allow carry forward of sick leave for part-time employees.

Among Those associations that Allow Carry-Forward:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Maximum Number of Leave Days that can be Carried Forward	32	10	0	5	0	0
Maximum Number of Sick Days that can be Carried Forward	10	0	0	4	0	0

Some associations allow employees to “cash out” unused sick leave at the time of termination:

- 38% of reporting associations (n=5) allow full-time employees to cash out sick leave at termination.
- 18% of reporting associations (n=2) allow part-time employees to cash out sick leave at termination.

Vacation Leave: Number of Vacation Days Provided to Employees Based on Years of Service

Employee's Years of Service	Full-Time Employees: Number of Days			Part-Time Employees: Number of Days
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
Less than 1 year	12	10	10	2	0	0

15 years	23	20	20	6	0	0

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For 501(c)(6) Associations

The survey asked associations to report their specific policies and practices with regard to vacation carry-forward and vacation cashout upon termination of employment. Among the associations that provide for the accrual of vacation leave:

- 67% of reporting associations (n=10) allow full-time employees to carry vacation leave credit into the new year;
- 27% of reporting associations (n=4) allow part-time employees to carry vacation leave credit into the next year.

For the associations that allow full-time employees to carry vacation forward:

- The average maximum number of days that may be carried forward is 31 days.
- The median maximum number of days allowed to be carried forward is 9 days.

Some associations allow employees to “cash out” unused vacation leave at the time of termination:

- 85% of associations in this survey group (n=11) allow full-time employees to cash out vacation leave at termination.
- 45% of associations in this survey group (n=5) allow part-time employees to cash out vacation leave at termination.
- Among the associations that allow vacation cash-out at termination, 44% (n=4) place a limit on the number of days that may be cashed out.

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: 501(c)(6) Associations

Among those associations that allocate paid time off for holidays and vacation leave (n=3):

Holidays:

	Full-time employees			Part-time employees
	Average	Median	Mode	Average	Median	Mode
How many paid holidays are provided to employees per year?	11	10	10	6	6.5	0

- 64% of reporting associations (n=7) state that they pay part-time employees for holidays when the actual holiday falls outside of the employee’s normal work week.

Paid Vacation and Time Off Benefits: For 501(c)(6) Associations

Other Forms of Paid Leave

In addition to paid leaves for vacation, illness, and holidays, many associations provide paid time off for specific other purposes. The table below reports the practices of organizations reporting information for these types of paid leave (n varies).
